Education. ARM stays on top of industry trends and changing technologies for aggregate mining, ready mix production, and regulatory compliance. We regularly share this with members through our e-newsletter, print newsletter, webinars, website, and annual convention.

Further, ARM manages Training Central, the source for certification training for your employees, customers and MnDOT employees. Each year, we certify or re-certify more than 1,000 people working in the aggregate and ready mix industries.

Networking. You will not find an organization that offers as many opportunities to share information, news, concerns and solutions specific to your day to day business. In 2014, we're hosting a Minnesota Wild event, the Concrete Open, July board meeting and golf outing, a fall aggregate conference, at least four aggregate and ready mix division meetings for members only, and the annual convention.

Promotion. ARM works closely with members, the Concrete Paving Association of Minnesota, and the Portland Cement Association to encourage engineers, architects, local government officials and MnDOT to specify more concrete on local streets, curbs and sidewalks; county roads, and state highways. In 2014, we are initiating a forceful, synergistic promotional campaign that will result in more concrete projects for ARM members in the coming years.

Advocacy. You want to do business free of undue regulatory and tax burdens, and ARM wants to make sure your business succeeds. We vigorously represent members' concerns at the legislature. In 2014, ARM will focus on truck weights, the EQB silica sand mining model standards, and the Minnesota concrete flatwork specifications. We have strong, positive relationships with leaders at the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, the Department of Natural Resources, the Minnesota Department of Transportation.
